Heavy Cruiser And Four Other Ships Go Down

United States Navy Reports Additional Successes Are Scored by Submarines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—United States submarines operating in Japanese-dominated waters of the Western Pacific have sunk an enemy heavy cruiser and four other vessels and damaged three more, one of which probably sank, the Navy Department reported today.

Disclosure of the undersea successes raised the total of enemy ship casualties officially announced in two days to eighteen, of which eleven ships were sunk, two probably sunk and five damaged.

Those sunk included two heavy cruisers, destruction of which at least partially avenged the loss of three American and one Australian heavy cruisers at the outset of the Solomon Islands campaign in August.

Telling attrition

The recent record occasioned considerable satisfaction in naval quarters here on the ground that such attrition of Japan's naval strength must inevitably increase the enemy's difficulties in maintaining his extended supply line while protecting his bases scattered over the Central, Western and Southwestern Pacific.

The communiqué making a periodic report on Pacific submarine operations listed these results without telling how any of the actions occurred.

Sunk: A heavy cruiser, medium-sized cargo ship, small cargo ship, small tanker and small trawler.

Australians Finally Meet Some Resistance in Mountains

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 15 (Thursday), (CP).—Heavier fighting has developed in the Owen Stanley Mountains, where Australian troops are engaged in driving toward the north shore of New Guinea, an Allied communiqué said today.

It appeared that the Japanese withdrawal through the gap in the rugged mountain range had brought them close enough to the base that they were able to stiffen their resistance.

During the first ten days of the Australian advance up the southern slope of the mountains, they met almost no resistance and most of the time were not able to make contact with the enemy.

They established contact, however, last Saturday and again on Tuesday. Since then they have had to fight their way through the jungle and their lengthening supply lines slowed down their advance considerably.

The increased scale of the action amid the jungle-covered peaks north of Mt. Myola was accompanied by air attacks in the Wapori area, behind the Japanese front lines, and against Lae, an enemy shore base on New Guinea, some 150 miles northwest from the scene of the principal fighting.

The latter took place, the communiqué said, in the vicinity of Templeton's crossing, marking a further advance by Allied troops.

Stockings Given With War Bonds

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 14 (AP).—One thousand pairs of nylon hose were awarded to purchasers of war bonds at a hostess shop today, with hundreds of women crowding the shop to take advantage of the offer.

One pair of hose was awarded with each $100 war bond purchase. Although each customer was limited to three pairs, one woman brought $3,000 worth of bonds.

A total of $104,000 worth of bonds was sold.

WHYTEVILLE, Va., Oct. 14 (AP).—Edward D. (Ted) Woodward, forty-five of Spencer, W. Va., and New York, who rose from a small town reporter to head of a chain of twenty-two weekly newspapers, was found dead today in his hotel room here. Authorities said he apparently died Monday of natural causes.

Dim-Out Ordered for Victoria District to Protect Coast Ships

Probably Be for Duration—No Date Set for Start—Announcement Follows Conference With Heads of Armed Services in Vancouver—Will Cut Off Waterfront Street Lights

To Curtail Auto Lights

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—The southwest portion of Vancouver Island, which includes Victoria, British Columbia's capital city, will be dimmed out, possibly for the duration of the war, it was announced here tonight by W. C. Mainwaring, chairman of the Provincial Civilian Protection Committee.

The announcement was made following an afternoon conference with heads of the armed services including Commodore W. J. R. Beech, R.C.N., Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., General Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Pacific Command, and Air Vice-Marshal L. P. Stevenson, Air Officer Commanding, Western Air Command.

DATE NOT SET

The date for the commencement of the dim-out was not announced, pending further study of the coastal situation and possible scope of the precautions necessary to protect ships using waters adjacent to the dim-out areas.

At the conference the various phases of civilian protection measures in the province were fully discussed.

It was explained that the dim-out of the lower portion of Vancouver Island had become necessary because of the fact that enemy submarines could use the background of illumination from the Victoria area to silhouette ships in the strait proceeding to and from Vancouver and Sound ports.

This situation was viewed as increasingly dangerous to shipping because other parts of the Pacific Coast are now dimmed out and it was considered, in all probability, that enemy craft on the prowl for such a situation.

Moves Vote Of Censure On Strike

WELLINGTON, Oct. 14 (CP-Reuters).—S. G. Holland, leader of the Opposition, today moved a vote of no confidence in the Fraser Government after a speech in the New Zealand House of Commons in which he criticized the Government's methods of dealing with a Waitakere miners' strike.

Debate was adjourned.

Holland and three other Cabinet Ministers resigned September 30 from Mr. Fraser's Coalition Government because the Cabinet suspended sentences passed against striking miners.

British Sailors Helping Farmers

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Oct. 14 (AP).—Land-lease doesn't provide for it, but British sailors are helping Virginia farmers with their haying. It began in a small way, but promises to get bigger. A veteran aboard a British warship here for overhaul met a Norfolk County farmer "frantically in need of hands." The seaman told the ship's skipper, who said: "Go ahead."

The skipper stipulated that his crew accept no pay. The farmers—resourceful chaps—get around this, however, by entertaining the sailors in their homes.

Himmler Goes to Rome As Rift in Axis Widening

Hitler Growing Suspicious of Italy's Attitude Toward U.S.—Envoy's Visit to Pope Seen as Issue

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Reports of a widening rift between Germany and Italy came from neutral capitals today as Hitler's Gestapo chief visited Rome and conferred at length with Mussolini.

As a possible clue to the topic of discussion between Heinrich Himmler and Benito Mussolini, reports which filtered out of the Axis camp indicated strongly that Germany has grown increasingly suspicious of her junior partner's attitude toward the United States.

Reported among the tides that fed the flames of this distrust were:

1. Italy's permission for the landing of Myron C. Taylor's plane in Rome, facilitating the recent visit by President Roosevelt's special envoy to the Vatican for talks with the Pope.

2. Attorney-General Francis Biddle's announcement in New York that after October 19 the 600,000 Italians in the United States no longer would be under restrictions as enemy aliens.

Biddle disclosed in Washington that copies of his Columbus Day address announcing the decision

Axis Airmen Find Malta's Defences Tight and Deadly

Further Aerial Assaults Beaten Back by Royal Air Force—With Additional Losses to Attackers—United States Fighters Win First Major Battle Over African Desert

CAIRO, Oct. 14 (CP).—Malta defences beat back further aerial assaults today, while United States fighter pilots won their first major aerial battle over the African desert.

Malta's defences shot down seven Axis planes yesterday when P.O. George Beurling, of Verdun, Que., one of the Empire's ace fighters, got three in a single battle to boost his total to twenty-six since he got into action.

Today four enemy bombers and three fighters were shot down, bringing the total of Axis losses over the island since Sunday to at least sixty-five planes.

Today's British losses were not disclosed immediately, but the tally from Sunday through yesterday showed that only seven fighters had gone down.

LITTLE DAMAGE

Only one British fighter was lost yesterday and the defence was so tight that there was practically no damage to the airfield, which were the Germans' targets. Two civilians were killed.

Twelve United States fighters, reporting fighter-bombers of the South African Air Force, tangled for twenty minutes in the air.

STEAL BOMBERS FROM AIRFIELD

British Flyers Shot Down in Desert Escape With Axis Planes

CAIRO, Oct. 14 (CP).—Two British airmen, shot down in the Egyptian desert and faced with a long trek back to their own lines, saved the problem by stealing two enemy bombers from a German air field and flying them back.

They had already set out from the wreck of their crashed plane and walked ten miles toward the east when they saw a German bomber coming down to land not far away.

Climbing to the top of a rocky hillock, they saw the air field. There were no buildings, only a few tents and lorries, and these seemed poorly guarded. There were only a handful of men around.

The airmen waited until nightfall when they felt sure their British flying kit wouldn't be recognized in the darkness. One of the airmen spoke German almost as fluently as English.

They strolled on to the flying field and the bombers were surrounded by a swarm of ground crew and sentries.

It was too late to turn back. In his best Prussian one Briton blustered: "Why weren't these ready long ago? This one should be ready by now."

He was hastily assured that the planes were ready. "Right, then, we're off with them to base," the airmen said. A show of hesitation was quelled with a flow of invective and threats. Engines were started up, wheel blocks removed and the two bombers were away.

Major Battle in Island Near as Landing Made

Japanese Put Ashore Heavy Reinforcements on Guadalcanal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The Japanese landed heavy reinforcements on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons early today, and indications tonight were that a major battle was impending, if not actually begun, between the strengthened enemy and the marines spear-heading the American offensive in the Southwest Pacific.

Announcement of the enemy landings was made by the Navy Department tonight in a special communiqué based on reports received up to 7:30 p.m., Eastern wartime.

The communiqué also reported that Japanese warships had bombarded the American airfield and shore installations on the strategic island two nights before the landings were undertaken.

These bold operations were carried out successfully by the determined enemy despite the fact that only last week-end a United States cruiser-destroyer task force had repelled a landing attempt and smashed eight Jap ships, while marines had fought forward to advanced positions on the edge of the northernmost section of the island, where the enemy troops were concentrated.

IN SAME SECTION

The latest landings were made on the coast of this same section. Whether they were "opposed" by United States army, navy and marine aircraft stationed on Guadalcanal was not stated in the communiqué. Neither was there any mention of the Japanese surface vessels having been engaged by American ships during their bombardment.

The seriousness with which the navy viewed the enemy's latest manoeuvres was emphasized by the speed with which they were announced. Almost invariably in the past activities in the Solomons have not been disclosed until at least two or three days after they occurred.

Moreover, the Japanese activities of themselves contained a grim new element.

RAISE ISLAND LOAN QUOTAS

Victory Bond Objective $12,750,000 Compared With $9,850,000 Last Time

Vancouver Island division will be asked to subscribe $12,750,000 in Canadian third Victory Loan campaign, Denis Haas, divisional organizer, announced last night.

This figure is $2,900,000 above the quota of $9,850,000 assigned to the eight units in the division in the second Victory Loan last February.

In announcing the objective in the campaign which opens on Monday, Mr. Haas expressed confidence that it would be met before the drive ends in three weeks time.

Following are the unit quotas with those in the second Victory Loan given in brackets: Victoria City, $8,530,000 ($4,830,000); Oak Bay, $1,065,000 ($1,410,000); Esquimalt, $430,000 ($395,000); Saanich-Gulf Islands, $835,000 ($940,000); Nanaimo, $500,000 ($570,000); Alberni and West Coast, $340,000 ($415,000); Cowichan-Duncan, $750,000 ($700,000); Courtenay-Comox, $300,000 ($370,000).

Victoria subscribers will be given an opportunity to follow the progress of the campaign on an indicator which will be placed over the recruiting station at Yates and Douglas Streets.

U.S. to Buy Excess Tires

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The United States Government will begin purchasing motorists' excess tires tomorrow in an effort to create a huge national stockpile.

Details of the purchase plan were announced today by the Office of Price Administration in connection with nation-wide gasoline rationing which limits each private car to five tires.

The Defence Supplies Corporation had advanced $150,000,000 to finance the programme, and designated 160 warehouses throughout the country as delivery points. The Railway Express Agency will collect the tires and transport them to the warehouses.

Mark Up Score on Black Sea Coast—Several Tank Raids in Stalingrad Repulsed—Nazis Taken Prisoner Northwest of City—Enemy Shock Troops Remain Inactive

Russian Marines in Attack

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (Thursday) (AP).—The Red Army, fighting in the welcome chill of an approaching winter, repulsed several more tank-supported German attacks in the Stalingrad and Caucasian areas Wednesday without yielding ground, the Soviet Command announced early today.

For the second straight day the communiqué reported no significant change in the general situation. The German shock troops apparently were in a state of temporary exhaustion or were holding back their troops for replenishment or to switch to another theatre.

Two companies of Nazis were reported to have been killed, and five German guns, seven machine-gun positions and three dugouts destroyed by one Soviet unit operating inside the ruined city where the enemy's attacks have noticeably faltered within the last week.

PRISONERS TAKEN

Northwest of the city the only "battle of local importance" occurred, with the Russians repelling an attack by two infantry companies which lost 100 men, the communiqué said. Nazi prisoners also were taken in this area where one dispatch said the Red Army had dislodged the enemy from hillsides which had dominated Russian supply roads.

In the Mordok area of the Central Caucasus where a snowy mantle was descending the mountain slopes, the Germans also were contained, the Russians said. Several German tanks supporting a German infantry regiment broke through to the Red Army's defences. "They were destroyed," the communiqué added tersely.

Along the Black Sea coast southeast of Novorossiysk, four artillerymen destroyed two trains loaded with ammunition at a German-occupied railway station, the bulletin said.

CONSOLIDATING POSITION

The Russians had reported yesterday that the Stalingrad area was consolidating its position within the city, and likewise were containing the enemy's thrusts in the Caucasus.

Militia in Croatian State Attacked by Force of Four Thousand

BERNE, Oct. 14 (AP).—Followers of Dr. Vladimir Macek, Croatian Peasant leader, have revolted against the Government of Dr. Ante Pavelic and fighting is now raging in the Nazi-created state of Croatia, Yugoslav circles said tonight.

An army of about 4,000 peasants were said to be attacking the khaki-uniformed Ustachi, the militia which Pavelic developed from the handful of Fascist-inclined Croatians whom he trained while in exile in Italy.

They are fighting independently of the insurgent forces which General Draza Mihailovic has been leading in the Yugoslav mountains since the capitulation of the Yugoslav army in April, 1941.

TRAIN DERAILLED

Yugoslav circles here said forty-six trains were derailed in Croatia during September and that the German troops now are guarding the entire length of the Zagreb-Belgrade railway.

There was no indication when the organized opposition to the Pavelic Government started, but recent information leaking out of the Balkans has shown that trouble has been developing.

Only yesterday the German radio reported that the Pavelic Cabinet had resigned and a new government had been sworn in under a new oath pledging to govern according to "Ustachi principles."

A few days before that it was reported that the Pavelic Cabinet

WILLKIE STICKS TO HIS OPINION

Declares Opening Second Front Is Both Necessary And Feasible

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The weight of public opinion is required to force an immediate decision on the opening of a second front, Wendell L. Willkie said here tonight after reporting to President Roosevelt.

East, Russia and China.

Declaring that a second front is "both necessary and feasible," the Republican leader, who was the President's personal representative on the globe-circling trip, said his opinion was formed after applying his own judgment to the conflicting views of the military men, American, British, Russian and Chinese, that he met abroad.

Willkie said his trip to fourteen countries convinced him that the United Nations will win the war.

Instilling there was nothing sacrosanct about the opinions of military men, Willkie said he was as well qualified as anyone to exercise his judgment and arrive at a conclusion about a second front, particularly after his many talks with military leaders in the countries he visited.

MANY ATTEND ANNIVERSARY

Special Services Mark Golden Jubilee of Emmanuel Baptist Church

The Golden Jubilee of the Emmanuel Baptist Church was celebrated on Sunday and Monday with special services of praise and thanksgiving. Rev. Henry Knox, of Vancouver, a former pastor of the church, brought messages at both services on Sunday, his subjects being "A Jubilee Summons" and "The Saviour of the World."

On Monday evening members of the church and congregation, together with several out-of-town guests, attended a banquet sponsored by the Women's Society of the church. Mrs. William Russell, president of the Women's Society, was chairman and introduced the many guests. Mrs. H. Knox, of Vancouver, brought personal greetings from the Baptist Missionary Society of British Columbia, and Mrs. Bernard C. Gillie, correspondent secretary of the Women's Society, read greetings from Mrs. J. R. McDonald, president, Women's Auxiliary of the Baptist Union of Western Canada, and Mrs. O. H. Cogswell, of Ottawa, a former member of the church.

Mrs. Charles Goodwin, accompanied by Mrs. John Gough, sang "The Dutch Prayer of Thanksgiving" and "Vespers" (Milton). H. C. Parfitt, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Simon, gave a group of songs, "The Ringers" (Weatherly) and "Captain Mac" (O'Reilly), and George H. E. Green, accompanied by Mrs. Green, rendered a cornet solo, "Come, Let Us All This Day" (Bach). The Golden Jubilee birthday cake was cut by Mrs. J. R. Clements and Mrs. W. L. McKay.

Later in the evening the closing Jubilee session was held, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Wilfrid L. McKay, B.A., B.D., Rev. W. A. Mason, of Australia, assisted at the devotional service which was followed by greetings from the sister churches. Rev. G. A. Reynolds spoke on behalf of the First Baptist Church, and Rev. F. W. McKinnon on behalf of the Douglas Street Baptist Church. Rev. Henry Knox gave the greetings from Vancouver Heights Baptist Church, and also from the British Columbia Baptist Convention.

Dr. Lachlan MacMillan, of Vancouver, an old member of the church, brought personal greetings to the meeting, and Rev. McKay read several letters and telegrams from out-of-town members. George F. Walters, moderator of the church, in replying to the greetings, traced the growth of the church from its beginning in 1896, to the erection of the present building in 1932 and paid tribute to those who had pioneered and labored during the years up to the present time.

FACE CHANGING WORLD

Dr. A. E. Whitehouse, pastor of the Metropolitan United Church and president of the British Columbia Conference of the United Church, brought greetings from the conference and also from the Ministerial Association of Victoria. Dr. Whitehouse was also the guest speaker at the evening session, taking as his subject, "The Sign of the Times." In his address Dr. White-

MUSSOLINI "ON CARPET"

The currency of reports of strained relations between Berlin and Rome suggested, however, that it was more likely that Mussolini was on the carpet before the man whose Gestapo is charged with keeping Italy toiling the mark.

The Basel National Zeitung's Istanbul correspondent reported rumors heard in Turkey that Hitler probably would take time off from the Russian front soon for a personal conference with Mussolini.

The report that the Italian-American developments were a root of the discord came from The Na-

Canadian army instructors call it "unarmed combat," Japanese call it "ju-jitsu" and it also embraces part of the Japanese technique called "judo"—which is unarmed defence. But whatever it is called, the new battle technique is plenty tough, and Corporal Tommy Burns, chief instructor in this method of offensive and defensive warfare, has a fighter's jaw and a fighter's heart. He is a veteran professional boxer, who later learned ju-jitsu at the four-tandem-in-Japan fairs.

From Ankara there were reports that Italy's failure to cope with continued anti-Axis outbreaks in dismembered Yugoslavia also was a cause of German dissatisfaction, and that Germany might take over control of Slovenia and Croatia, and possibly demand full control of the Adriatic port of Trieste as well.

Italy got Trieste from Austria as a prize of the first Great War.

Reporting from Geneva, the Russian news agency, Tass, said yesterday that the Croatian Government had resigned—presumably under German pressure. Tass said this was being interpreted in Swiss circles as "proof that Germany no longer intends to allow Italy's predominance in Croatia."

significance not heretofore attached to their movements in the Southwest Pacific Archipelago.

NO PREVIOUS SUCCESS

So far as has been announced, they had not previously succeeded in actually bombarding the airfield and main installations in the American position of the island, although there have been sporadic attempts to do so by submarines and occasional destroyers.

Another fact which the communication made clear was that the troops landed this morning came from transports, covered by naval units, which undoubtedly meant the Japanese got not only men but also artillery and supplies ashore. Lack of artillery is reported to have been one of their main weaknesses.

Some previous landings had been made from transporters, frequently against American aerial opposition. But most of the men sent ashore by the enemy in the two months since the marines invaded the Solomons had been landed in small groups from barges and similar light craft.

RUSSIANS DESTROY MUNITIONS TRAINS

The noon communiqué, dealing with the Black Sea area southeast of Novorossiysk, said an enemy force which had penetrated into the rear of a Russian unit had been cut off from its main force by counter-attack, with 400 Germans killed and considerable material captured.

Marine raiders landed from the sea by motor launch destroyed a German cavalry force, blew up an ammunition dump, destroyed a radio station and captured staff documents in a populated place in this area. They returned to their base without losses, the communiqué said.

The German High Command claimed that one German division operating between Makop and Tuxepa, in the Black Sea coastal area, had captured 100 fortified mountain strong points. The communiqué added: "In Stalingrad and on the Don front some counter-attacks and advances launched by the Soviets were repelled."

U-BOAT RAIDS OFF AFRICA SPREADING

October 13—Prime Minister Smuts of the Union of South Africa arrived in London for war conferences.

Today—a German communiqué (without confirmation elsewhere) reported the sinking of four merchantmen—between Capetown and Freetown, West Africa, among them the 23,456-ton British liner Oranien and the 20,119-ton Canadian liner Dierkes of Athol, both according to the German version, "engaged in transporting troops to Egypt in the Middle East." The Italian radio had previously claimed the sinkings.

CAMPAIGN INTENSIFIED

Then an authoritative British spokesman, who could not be named, told today of the intensifying German submarine campaign in the area around the Cape of Good Hope and of the Allied counter-measures probably being undertaken already.

He said the U-boats had been "forced further afield by the defensive-offensive tactics of the United Nations" and had moved their activities to the South African coastal waters, where enemy action had been confined mainly to mine sowing and occasional forays by surface craft and U-boats.

"We now see a new phase beginning with U-boat concentrations," he said, adding that the operations presumably were carried out with a complete supply setup, since "it would be uneconomical to send a submarine from France to the Cape without some source of supply in the area."

A local ration board to be appointed by Mayor Andrew McGavin will issue ration cards for tea, sugar and coffee to members of the armed forces who receive seven or more days' leave. The Mayor was informed yesterday by O. H. Bell, regional superintendent of rationing, Vancouver. Other duties of the board will be defined in the near future.

Mayor McGavin indicated the board would comprise two members of the Local Council of Women, a representative of war veterans' organizations, the rev. of Oak Bay and a representative of labor organizations. The mayor will be chairman. He said Rationing and Equilibrium would operate independently of the city ration board.

INCREASE PROTECTION

It was further explained at the conference that specified cities on the Olympic Peninsula had been dimmed out for some time and that only by dimming out Victoria could adequate protection be offered vessels using the shipping lanes in the strait.

Details of the Victoria dim-out have not been finally approved, but Mr. Mainwaring intimated that they would include the shielding of any lights in the area which might be seen from the sea. Some regulations concerning street lights were being studied, and it was generally agreed that all waterfront street lights would be cut out.

It was also pointed out that it would be necessary to curtail lighting on motor vehicles by ordering the use of headlight covers and tail light blackout where lights would be visible from the sea.

Mr. Mainwaring said that Vancouver City would not be affected by the dim-out orders inasmuch as the lights of the Mainland City do not develop pools of light against which ships could be silhouetted.

LEADERS ARRESTED

This, in turn, followed a disclosure by Yugoslav sources in London on September 25 that Macek and five other leaders of the Croatian Peasant party had been arrested upon their refusal to collaborate with the Axis.

Macek had been under surveillance ever since the so-called Independent State of Croatia was set up, but Pavelic had not given up hope of finally persuading him to take a Cabinet position and lend his influence to the Government.

EVENING THE SCORE

Seven days action in the Solomon Islands area has enabled United States naval forces there to more than even the score for the loss of three heavy cruisers in the opening rounds of that action some weeks ago. Official dispatches from Washington said the Japanese heavy cruiser, four destroyers and a transport had been sunk outright; a second heavy cruiser and two light cruisers damaged, and a fifth destroyer damaged, and believed to have foundered.

The main part of this action was at sea, off the Guadalcanal shore. There, a United States cruiser and destroyer force engaged a Japanese armed convoy seeking to reinforce enemy lines on the island; sinking five naval craft and a troopship. In subsequent air action against the retreating Japanese forces, other vessels were hit and damaged. A week previously two Japanese light cruisers had been hit from the air, and one of them was seen down by the bow; while their destroyer screen was dispersed.

Thus in the space of seven days, United States forces in the Southwestern Pacific had administered a sharp blow at sea to the enemy, more than balancing the results of an initial night encounter in the opening rounds of action in the same area. It is just this whittling process, backed by adequate air cover, that will in the long run tell in the Pacific theatre of the conflict. At present, the United Nations are holding the initiative in the Southwestern and Northwestern Pacific, and are making good use of the opportunity.

THE LAST ENVELOPE

Experience, repeated endlessly in the probate courts of the land, has shown that in many of the estates for which men labored during their lives, life insurance proved to be their best investment. Yet, due to the pressure of the times, there is a tendency today to curtail life insurance programmes, if not to give them up completely. No greater mistake could be made by the average individual; for, in good times and bad, life insurance has paid out at its face value when many other forms of investment have materially altered in relative value.

As a first lien on everything that there is in the country, Dominion of Canada bonds, and their Provincial equivalents, are a steady and a reliable investment. And estates have been created many a time in that way, through the slow and patient acquisition of such prime securities. At the same time, there is nothing in the possession of a bond that prevents its owner from some day disposing of it. When probates come to be read, that is often found to have happened.

Human nature being what it is, some part of each estate should be founded on life insurance, for there the contract does not end with the exchange of a first premium, and men are obligated to a programme that they have mapped out for themselves. It is just this factor which is so valuable in human dealings. It stops many a man from being too precipitate with what may be the results of a lifetime of hard work and endeavor. It creates the opportunity for second thoughts, and perhaps for some sound, impartial advice into the bargain.

For a variety of reasons, chief among which are the extreme pressure of the times in which we are living, and the carelessness which a state of war always breeds, life insurance contracts are passing under the hammer. The obligation to save in a definable and regular way in too many cases is being abandoned; and, with it, all of the initial effort that went into the making of such a plan. The answer will be written in the probate division of the courts of this land many years hence. Then, as before, it may be found that what was in the last envelope, life insurance, alone remains, while the disposable, cash-on-sight securities, have long since been surrendered. Where there is choice in the matter, life insurance programmes should be kept up, as a backlog to that part of man's estate which he hopes to transmit to his loved ones.

EDMONTON'S GUEST

For some years now the city of Edmonton has been claiming that it is on the highroad to Europe by air, and that when the present conflict is over the airway will be traveled as extensively as any of the main arteries of the world. Sometimes Edmonton was laughed at, and called visionary. In more recent years, people have admitted, cautiously, that there might be some substance to the claim. Well, Edmonton had a guest this week from Europe, Mr. Wendell Wilkie; and he came by air, via the Siberian peninsula.

To news photographers and others who interviewed Mr. Wilkie in Edmonton it must have come with a good deal of satisfaction to hear him relate that his last stop was Alaska, and the one before that Siberia. For this is precisely what the air-minded people of Edmonton have been telling Canada all along. Seeing, however, is believing, and Edmonton can now point with pride to the return of Mr. Wilkie as proof of its long-sustained contention.

Weather bureau services, much disrupted by the war, may not function completely again until the conflict has been ended. When they do, however, a great deal more will have been learned about actual flying conditions in the Pacific. There is a suggestion at least that great circular winds sweep the land bowl of the Pacific; and that these vary with the time of the year, and with other governing factors. What adds spice to the situation at the moment is that, if Mr. Wilkie can be flown from Siberia to Alaska by the northern route in October, so may others.

ALTERED REVENUES

The request of British Columbia automobile organizations to the Provincial Government for a reduction in motor licence fees to ten dollars yearly, including the driver's impost, may prove a difficult one to answer. On the one hand, there is a Province pledged to the upkeep of provincial highways, and with reduced revenues as a result of the wartime shift in the incidence of taxation. On the other, are the motor car owners, finding it difficult to replace rubber, and strictly rationed as to motor fuel uses.

For the Province the question is a serious one. It must maintain its roads, many of which have now assumed strategic importance in the war. Already provincial coffers feel the weight of lessened normal revenues from many sources.

The point for the Government, and eventually for the Legislature, to decide will be which loss may be the lesser; the retention of present motor licence fees, and the loss through car surrenders; or the reduction, in part, of some of those fees, in the hope that the present curtailment of motor use will not extend further into former receipts by the Crown. To that question there does not appear to be any easy answer. For it can be taken for granted that most vehicles in use now are being used for business, and not for idle pleasure; and one-third of all vehicles have already left the roads.

A NEW ANTHOLOGY

Miss Audrey Alexandra Brown, Edna Jaques, A. M. Stephens, and the late Marjorie Pickthall are among British Columbia writers included in "Flying Colours," a new anthology of Canadian and other verse edited by Sir Charles G. D. Roberts, and published by the Ryerson Press, Toronto, for use in Canadian schools. "Flying Colours" is addressed to patriotic themes, and includes some of the old favorites, besides many of the new. It is a well-printed, concise volume of 126 pages, with a foreword by Sir Charles, in which he points to the growing importance of Canadian writers in this field.

While "Flying Colours" is explained as being intended mainly for use in Canadian schools, its appeal will be far wider than that. For here is a volume with a sample, at least, from the contemporary writings of many British and United States poets. As the foreword explains, the collection is human rather than classical; and addressed to that which is plain and understandable, rather than the ultra modernist school. The same trend, however, runs through all of the many pieces, and that is the magnificent reaction of men and women under fire.

One notices with some pleasure the inclusion of "High Flight," written by John Gillespie Magee, being a pilot's reaction to flight under modern war conditions; one of the advance heralds of what may prove to be a moving and illuminating literature of the air. There are many other favorites in the work, which should insure both its popularity, and, what is more important, its use in Canadian homes and schools.

CRITICISM

Only a very unimaginative individual would set it up as a rule, that people in public office must not be criticized. Authorities who, relying on that take it as a personal affront when adverse criticism is forthcoming, show themselves to be quite foreign to the spirit and temper of the people of this land.

Criticism is of two kinds. It may be favorable or unfavorable. No one in public office has ever yet objected to praise, even where it was not earned. It is the adverse criticism which those in authority are sometimes too ready to label as "destructive." Anything which brings light, without heat, to the affairs of mankind is constructive, timely, and needed.

It was an old, wise, saw which said that men in public office, like bees settling upon flowers, cease their humming. Were no criticism to be allowed, as is the case in Germany, Italy and Japan, an order of insane criminals might rule the world forever and a day. Fortunately, on the side of the democracies there is sterner stuff.

What is important, and that which every individual must remain responsible for, is to see that no man in public office is barracked, which is a very different thing. Without both criticism and self-criticism mankind would still be living in the time of the Pharaohs and their slaves. Some of the petulant order of office-holders might do well to ponder these facts. In the last analysis, the sincerity of a good man speaks out of his every action and requires no artificial bolstering. What Canada seems to need at the moment is more public-minded public servants, and fewer private slaves.

CHALK STREAMS

Where run pure streams in golden English vales, Outfounting from the chalk down's copious breast, Lambourn or Lode or stately moving Test, Kenet or Itchen, and when Summer gales Blow soft with increase of all meadow flowers, And thrill with anthems of unnumbered strains, Let it be mine to linger through the hours Bux in idleness, if small the gains Of cereals or many triumphs won, Aloud still in after days the sense Of heart-quickening benediction, Divinely given and healing recompense, Nor squander these fair days, I trust, if so With grace of simple thankfulness they go.

—Lord Harnsworth.

LAST SONNET

Bright Star! would I were steadfast as thou art— Not in lone splendour hung aloft the night, And watching, with eternal lids apart, Like Nature's patient, sleepless Eremite, The moving waters at their priest-like task Of pure ablution round earth's human shores, Or gazing on the new soft-fallen mask Of snow upon the mountains and the moors— No—yet still steadfast, still unchangeable, Blinded upon my fair love's ripening breast, To feel for ever its soft fall and swell, Awake for ever in a sweet unrest, Still, still to hear her tender-taken breath, And so live ever—ere this vision cease.

—John Keats.

FROM THE CHAMBERED NAUTILUS

Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul, As the swift seasons roll! Leave the low-vaulted past! Leave each new temple, nobler than the last, Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast, Till thou at length art free, Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea!

THE SEA OF NO NAME (4)

At 2,000 feet altitude the cubic air-ocean has for the most part ironed out the little irregularities caused by surface temperature, and a straight, flat calm awaits the aerial explorer. The Earth's crust and many of its influences have been left behind and man is fairly launched on the invisible ocean, the Sea of No Name.

Whatever the facts on the ground, temperature in the air has come now to a marvellously steady mean, and has opened which within reason can be sailed in any direction, to the ends of the known world. Indeed, uniformity of air temperature, in altitude bands, over the Earth's crust is one of the most striking facts about the cubic air-ocean. With height, the temperature drops very low, but in still higher reaches of the atmosphere it tends to rise again. Horizontally, however, there is great uniformity, save in the presence of a storm.

Let us look, for a moment, at the chief exceptions to what has been stated above. They are of a larger order, and concern the nature of the medium itself. The air is a fluid ocean. It is never really at rest. Its lower reaches, say the first 35,000 feet of altitude, are in the storm belt, influenced by the Earth's wind. Besides the slow sweep of great air masses in accurate and friendly bands, there are the sudden upsets of that balance which we know as storms. Temperature differences in any medium induce a flow, and it is so in the air. Meteorology has followed those changes a long way, and one day the world will return to the making of global weather-maps. But some of these movements we can appreciate now.

Very roughly stated, over both land and water, and affecting both oceans and continents in their fullest extent, are great air movements, known as the trade winds. At times that balance is upset by natural factors, and storms cut across the regular pattern—of itself might be termed a uniformity of diversity. The thing that is uniform is the balance, and nature will find that always, and by the shortest route. Man has flown just enough to know that there are "trade winds" in the cubic air-ocean; and that if he learns to plot them, he may fly with them. These "trade winds" may yet turn out to be great, whirling circles, with return winds at their outer extremities. One could almost predict that there will one day be north and south routes, or east and west routes, across every continent and every ocean, and that men will fly over the lower reaches of the Sea of No Name with tail-winds in their favor. It may be found, too, that over our ocean the winds are clockwise, and over another, counter-clockwise. A good deal of research must yet be done on global airways. In the higher reaches of the navigable air-ocean, however, man has some grounds for expecting freedom from storms, relatively calm air, steady low temperatures, and his "fastest" medium of flight, that is to say, from 35,000 feet altitude and on up as far as his machines can take him.

In what is called flying weather, however, the machines of today will carry man anywhere that he has a mind to go. At 2,000 feet, and free of the local disturbances of the ground, a navigator may set a course by compass, held to it by visual observation of the sun or stars, and a sextant, and traverse whatever distances time and fuel will permit. Over continents and oceans, moreover, that is today being done. "Contact" flying—that is flight from point to point by means of landmarks on the ground—has largely disappeared, and navigational flight, with all of the rich rewards of compass and chart, has come steadily to the front. In that, man has really launched himself into the Sea of No Name, in controlled and directed flight.

It would be a dull soul, however, who at 2,000 feet could take his eye completely off the endless pictures presented to him by the earth's crust. Tree-clad hillsides, meadowed valleys, streamy streams that grow from a mountain trickle to a rushing torrent, the broad expanse of the sea with its shore, snow-capped mountain ranges calm in the eternal peace of the ages, all these and much more besides will draw human eyes back to the surface of this planet. Yet, navigation is the essential part of flight, and for all of the visible distractions on the ground, man must sail the cubic air-ocean with one eye on his compass, and another on the clock. And it is thus, in controlled, directed and navigated flight, that the earth has truly shrunk, to the comparative dimensions of a single continent.

In human terms, men must learn to agree one day, because they no longer have room in which to sport their differences, acre by acre and sea-mile by sea-mile. The air environment is a common one, and it is a common one that will bring them together. Mrs. Edwards will tell anyone who is interested that her efforts bring little fruit. Occasionally she finds a home for a married man, but in human terms, men must learn to agree one day, because they no longer have room in which to sport their differences, acre by acre and sea-mile by sea-mile. The air environment is a common one, and it is a common one that will bring them together.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Colonist of October 15, 1892.

An Unpleasant View—The cloudy state of the sky yesterday seriously interfered with the view of the solar eclipse, to the disappointment of those who were interested in observing such events. An occasional glimpse from about 9:15 to 9:30 amid the passing clouds was all that could be obtained, enough to note the actual fact of the eclipse, but not to make any record of its commencement or duration.

Indian Reservations—Engineer Skinner and his party are back from the West Coast, after a four-month surveying trip through Indian reserves of the Yukon district. The work progressed most favorably, and the Indians were found to be happy and contented. The party report good weather and a thoroughly satisfactory bill of health.

An Illustrated Lecture—Mr. N. Shakespeare will give a stereoscopic illustration in the James Bay Methodist Church, corner of Michigan and Menzies Streets, on Monday evening, October 24, in aid of the Sunday School. Mr. Shakespeare has just received some new views from England, which he intends showing on that evening, and all who come will be sure to enjoy themselves.

fold all. Every geography that has ever been compiled has been thrown out of the window in the last ten years; and what the world will have when this great interruption is over is an airman's map, with its global front. Supporting that, the first complete world-weather chart will be to man what the discovery of a steam motion was to the Ancients. Moreover, in 2,000 years' time, we will be the "Ancients," and all of our little knowledge obsolete and primitive! I like to dwell on that thought. It conveys such a world of new opportunities and growth for mankind!

BILLETING

By F. M. Kelley

House owners or fortunate tenants of dwelling houses in Greater Victoria who have spare rooms or better still, two or three rooms or suite, would be helping very materially in furthering Canada's and, incidentally, the United Nations' war effort if they would make their rooms available to men of the services who happen to have young families and find it necessary in the line of duty to be domiciled here for various periods of time.

Patriotic enough to answer the call of duty and offer themselves for service with the navy, army and air force, in whatever capacity required, these men are being determined by the best suited to fill many young married men did not, although they could have done so, hesitate or excuse themselves by pleading dependents in the shape of wives and babes of tender years. They felt, undoubtedly, when they applied for enlistment and the honor of donning the King's uniform, that their fellow citizens throughout the country would appreciate the voluntary sacrifice they were making and extend to them and theirs every possible consideration.

It would appear that this is not so by long odds. It seems that a married man who believes it is his duty to join the ranks of his country's defenders is just another chap to be patted on the back for a day or two and told what a fine fellow he is for putting on service clothes. It doesn't matter, apparently, how much inconvenience he and his might be subjected to because of his joining up. The patriotic back-slapper probably thinks it's the right thing to do and let it go at that. If he does think of the serviceman's wife and baby he is very likely satisfied that the relatives of the husband or wife in the home town will see that they have accommodation until the husband and father ends his term of service.

That would be a simple way of meeting the situation if the man joining up could remain in the vicinity of his home town while wearing the uniform. Unfortunately, most of them are posted to strange places, mostly far away, and in many instances for prolonged periods, especially in certain areas. Many men are sent here for indefinite duty periods, and naturally, being the proper type of Canadian, want their wives and babies near them. Houses are hard to get, there is no doubt about that, but rooms for single servicemen are not. They can be accommodated—if they pay the price. There are rooms, too, that would be a godsend to sorely worried married couples at any price when their means if they were allowed to rent them.

It certainly doesn't make for good morale in the Canadian Navy-Basement when a young man and woman with a child have to pay $27.50 for a basement room in a local lodging place. Tramping the streets of Victoria looking for something better, when their child became ill owing to the unsuitable quarters, they are continually told on applying for rooms that "no children would be taken in." Were are the future defenders of the country coming from, if and when needed, if a baby and his mother are to be denied decent places to live in while the husband and father serves in one of the other of the country's services? Something should be done about it—next year, but now.

"Life" Is Earnest?

By Sir Robert Holland

The editors of the magazine Life, in the issue of October 12, tendered advice from the American people to the people of England, as follows:

"Our intention is and always has been to support England in her heroic struggle. . . . We want to know frankly what you are prepared to do to help us. . . . What we need is concessions in policy. . . . One thing we are sure we are not fighting for is to hold the British Empire together. . . . In a war to hold the might not be so important at this time, but from a United Nations standpoint it begins to look as if there should have been a second front long ago. . . . Quit fighting a war to hold the Empire together. . . . If you cling to the Empire at the expense of a United Nations victory, you will lose the war. Because you will lose us. . . . Realize how much principles mean to us. We realize that you have a difficult problem in India, but we don't see that your solution to date provides any evidence of principles of any kind. . . . We mean that this is a war by free men to establish freedom more firmly and over a wider area on this earth. . . . If you want to keep us on your side, you must move part of the way over to our side."

This is the gist of the "advice," abbreviated, but in the editors' actual words.

A journalistic demerit of this kind ought not to be taken too seriously, but it undoubtedly tends to create ill-feeling between British and American peoples. If any reply is necessary, it might be on the following lines:

"America is not fighting in this war merely to 'support' England. But primarily to save herself and the other United Nations from destruction and slavery, and secondarily to crush aggression and bring to fruition our hopes for the welfare of all peoples on the earth. It is unbelievable that the majority of the American people distrust the motives and aims of their British ally, but even if this were the case, America could not quit the war or slacken her efforts without risking the annihilation of the American way of living and the extinction of democratic freedom. Willy-nilly, the United Nations are all in the fight together to the end."

"Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill have made it clear in recent speeches that major questions of strategy, such as how and when and where a second front should be opened, are taken on the advice of the joint military staffs. They could not be influenced by the selfish predictions of one combatant. In order to crush Japan, Australia must be held, the Philippines, Hongkong, Malaya, Burma and much else must be recaptured regardless of whatever sovereign or suzerain interests may be involved. India, despite her constitutional travail, must remain a pivotal centre of the Allied war machine."

"The war record of the British Commonwealth during the critical years before America came in attests the charge that the people of England have been fighting merely to hold the Empire together, and that their strategy was governed by selfish motives. Alone, for weary months, they held the pass for freedom, Greece, China, Russia and many other ravaged countries testify to this. The people of England, no less than the people of America, are inspired in fighting this war by a new recognition of old truths. Through the suffering of the past three years, they have learned lessons of humiliation and have done penance for past shortcomings, but they have won also a new sense of values which they are determined to uphold in co-operation with the United Nations for the redemption of mankind."

"As regards the colonies, they know that the foundations of liberty which Britain has laid in them are sound, the same foundations, rooted in the Magna Carta, from which liberty grew in the United States, in the Dominions and in India. But they know also that, for the era which is dawning, liberty must be defined anew and with greater clarity to combat evil and ignorance and subjection."

"As regards India, they are proud that England's achievement during the past century and a half has contributed to the welfare and happiness of the Indian people."

pinch of a great section of the world's population, and has brought near the moment when her trusteeship will terminate and India's destiny will be directed by Indian hands free of external control. They recognize how deeply the feelings of Americans are engaged over the question of freedom for India, but British statesmen, who have perhaps a better appreciation of the actualities of the position than those who speak merely from the heart, are determined that India's nationalhood shall be founded securely upon the unity of the major elements in her national life. Nothing will be allowed to interfere with this fulfilment of India's righteous ambition.

In conclusion, it may be worth while to quote from a recent broadcast by Archibald MacLennan, librarian of Congress, on his return from Britain. He said:

"We know how to value and how to judge the whispered rumors and the printed innuendoes which seek to persuade us that the British have done less than their full duty in this war. We know what they have done."

No Duncum Complaints Against Chlorination

DUNCAN, Oct. 14 (AP)—The water supply of this city of more than 2,000 people has been chlorinated since Spring and no complaints have been registered, city officials said tonight.

Chlorination was recommended eighteen months ago following tests made by officials of the Provincial Health Department and a modern plant was installed by the Nanaimo and Duncan Utilities Co., which furnishes water to the city. No increase in rates was made.

People of Duncan were drinking chlorinated water for weeks before they were advised by the city officials. They had not noticed any difference. Officials say that if cold water is let run five seconds in the morning, it is impossible to distinguish the taste of treated water.

Kelowna, B.C., says, has been chlorinating its water for two or three years without complaints from citizens of that Okanagan city.

Ship Production in U.S. Yards Is Making Progress

COWICHAN
DUNCAN, Oct. 14.—The annual meeting of the Cowichan Women's Institute was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. G. Christmas, Mrs. A. X. Rey, the president, occupying the chair. An adopted child at the Queen Alexandra Solarium is looked after, and a fruit and vegetable shower held for the Solarium each Autumn. A local family who lost all their belongings by fire was assisted; the jam kitchen was assisted by members' labor and by donations of sugar, and the institute aided both the Health Centre and Red Cross drive. It was reported that the superfluties stall held at the market by the institute and the Ivy Rebecca Lodge had raised $1,000 for the Red Cross in the two and a half years it had been operating. Mr. J. A. Kyle spoke on the ambulance scheme in operation and the institute undertook to support it. During the election of officers, Mrs. H. G. Bolt, of Victoria, presided. Mrs. A. X. Rey was re-elected president for the fourth year; Miss M. E. Wilson, vice-president; Mrs. J. Gilman, secretary; Mrs. A. Stannard, treasurer; and Mesdames E. Bradley and E. Brown directors. After a honeymoon to an unannounced destination, P.O. McTaggart will leave for duty in the East, and his wife will return to Victoria to make her home with her parents for the present.

In addition to his parents and brothers, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary McTaggart, Mr. and Mrs. F. Hollanquist, Mrs. Allan Stewart and her little daughter, Janice, came over from Vancouver for the wedding.

STRONG-HUMBER
Rev. Frederick Pike officiated at the wedding of Helen Emily, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Humber, 616 Gorge Road, and Corporal John S. Strong, R.A.F., elder son of Rev. E. A. H. Strong, Weston, super-Mare, Somersetshire, England, which was solemnized in St. Luke's Church at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The church organist was in attendance, and goldenrod and Michaelmas daisies made an attractive background for the ceremony.

The bride was given away by her father and wore a street-length frock of gold crepe with black accessories and a corsage bouquet of Talsman roses and alyssum. The bridesmaid was Miss Jessie Peterson in powder blue and navy, who wore a corsage bouquet of deep rose carnations, and L.A.C. Jack Hillard, R.A.F., was groomsmen.

At a small reception at the home of the bride's parents, in a setting of yellow chrysanthemums, Michaelmas daisies, rust dahlias and goldenrod, the guests were welcomed by Mrs. Humber in a navy blue dress and hat, assisted by her sister, Mrs. L. J. James, Portland, Ore., in a navy blue redingote ensemble, and each wore a corsage bouquet of pale pink carnations. Buffet refreshments were served, and the cake was cut on a marble table.

Following a honeymoon up-Island, for which the bride left in a black fitted coat over her wedding costume, Corporal and Mrs. Strong will make their home in Victoria.

FRANCIS-EASTMAN
On Saturday evening, in the United Church, Ladysmith, Rev. E. S. Fleming united in marriage Beatrice Pearl, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. Eastman, Chemainus, and Stanley Thomas, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Francis, Ladysmith. The bride wore a small dressmaker frock of deep rose wool with navy of the face and navy accessories, with a corsage bouquet of pink and white carnations and heather. The groom was in a two-piece frock of powder blue tulle with black hat and accessories, and a corsage bouquet of yellow carnations and heather. Mr. A. Dyer was groomsmen. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. H. English, Chemainus, where twenty relatives and immediate friends attended. The bride's table with lace cloth was centered by a three-tier wedding cake flanked by tall ivory tapers and vases of pink carnations. The toast to the bride was given by Sapper Terence English, from the Advance Training Centre, Chilliwack, the groom responding. Mr. and Mrs. Francis left by motor for a short honeymoon to Vancouver and Victoria and will later take up their residence in Ladysmith. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. H. Hove and daughter, Sharon, of Great Central Lake; Mrs. J. Garner, of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. Blake, of Ladysmith; Mr. and Mrs. C. Wright, of Duncan; Sgt. E. Hayes, of Nanaimo, and Sgt. T. English, Chilliwack.

CHAPMAN-ARMSTRONG
At the Victoria Truth Centre on Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock Rev. Emma Smiley united in marriage Beatrice Mary, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong, Gladfield Avenue, Marigold, and Mr. Roy George Chapman, eldest son of Cpl. and Mrs. George Chapman, Pentecost, B.C. The bride was given in marriage by her father and atter, the bride's mother was presented with one of pink carnations. The many useful gifts given the bride were concealed in an attractive imitation traveling case. The invited guests included Mrs. L. H. Fletcher, Mrs. E. J. Lind, Mrs. J. E. Clarke, Mrs. P. E. Edwards, Mrs. T. Russell, Mrs. R. Seeger, Mrs. R. Wordell, Mrs. G. Honor Brides-Elect

In honor of Miss Sadie Morgan, whose marriage takes place in the near future, a pyrex flower was held recently at the home of Mrs. C. Wilkins, Cecelia Road. The room was decorated with a profusion of autumn flowers and the gifts were contained in a mauve and silver ship. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and the tea table was presided over by Mrs. John Thomas. Other guests included Mrs. Martha Fiddler, Mrs. Emily Aiken, Mrs. Betty Dunnett, Mrs. Pearl McCracken, Mrs. G. Dunnett, Misses Rose Calderon, Eleanor Coulson, Maize Wright and Lydia Brophy.

CORNWELL-WILLIAMSON
The marriage was quietly solemnized on Monday afternoon at the family home—on Tyndall Avenue, Gordon Road, of Agnes Roberta, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Williamson, Oak Bay Avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh A. McLeod in the presence of immediate relatives and friends.

The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John C. Williamson, wearing an afternoon gown of nigger brown-crepe with new gold yoke and sequin trim, worn with hat and accessories in white. Her corsage bouquet was of Talsman roses and white heather.

The guests were received by the bride's sisters, Mrs. Norman Sargeant, wearing a frock of toast shade with a chartreuse green hat, and Miss Aileen Williamson, who wore a gown of beige crepe trimmed with rust and a hat of rust shade to tone. Each wore a corsage bouquet of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

The reception rooms were beautifully arranged with a profusion of autumn flowers by Mrs. Hudson Jones, making a fitting setting for the bride and groom to receive the good wishes of their friends. In the dining-room the table was centered with a three-tier wartime wedding cake surrounded by pastel-shaded flowers and flanked with white tapers in silver sconces. Presiding was Mrs. T. Williamson in a gown of black, trimmed with variegated embroidery and hat to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. Assisting in serving were Misses Marnie Houlahan and Kathleen Dunnett.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. T. A. Simmons and was suitably responded to by the groom.

For going away the bride donned a coat of nigger brown trimmed with squirrel over her wedding costume.

Says Women Must Fill Breach in Labor Crisis
TORONTO, Oct. 14 (CP)—Mrs. Rex Eaton, assistant director of National Selective Service, today told the National Convention of the Young Women's Christian Association here that Canada now is in the midst of a labor crisis which must be faced and solved, and said Canadian women must fill the breach caused by the shortage of manpower.

"Now, this very day—we are in a crisis. The shortages are real. It seems difficult to drive home the fact that labor shortage is here now," Mrs. Eaton said.

"Quite apart from our war industries, there are serious shortages of help in hospitals, in the social service and welfare fields, in restaurants and in hotels, to name only a few."

MUST REALIZE DUTY
"Any woman who can accept employment must realize where her duty lies. It is a matter between the woman and her own conscience. I feel the time is not far off when any able-bodied Canadian woman who is not tied to her home by responsibility, who can work and does not work, will be conspicuous—and perhaps not in a way she would like to be. She will be conspicuous as a woman who is not willing to do her part in the total war effort."

National Selective Service. Mrs. Eaton said, aims to put the right persons in the right job.

The recent registration of women twenty to twenty-four years of age disclosed a big movement of female labor from one part of the country to another, and indicated that thousands of women who were unemployed in 1940 now are working.

TAKE SPECIFIC JOBS
Mrs. Eaton said women who have registered for full-time work will be asked to take specific jobs or training courses for them.

Where positions call for untrained girls, they will be notified and asked to take one of them.

"Remember this," Mrs. Eaton observed, "there will be no compulsion about taking the job."

She said many women, even in the twenty to twenty-four-year-old age group, are working so diligently at voluntary work they feel they could not give it up for a wartime job, but expressed the belief the value of voluntary work given by any woman must be weighed in the light of the total national responsibility.

Mrs. Eaton said the whole voluntary effort should be streamlined and co-ordinated to an even greater degree than in the past.

COWBOY STAR ON RIO BILL TODAY

Gene Autry in New Western Story, "South of the Border"—Smiley Burnette in Featured Role

"Thunder Over England" is a phrase which might aptly describe Gene Autry's triumphant tour of the British Isles, for the thunder of that popular cowboy's hoof-beats reverberated throughout every village in the Empire.

Autry, who recently returned to make "South of the Border," Republic western which opens today at the Rio Theatre, received the greatest ovation ever accorded a film star, during his personal appearance tour of England.

In addition to making public appearances in theatres in the principal cities, Gene attended numerous banquets and made frequent charity appearances in children's hospitals.

Smiley Burnette and June Storey have the leading supporting roles.

"JOAN OF PARIS" ON CADET SCREEN TODAY

How five intrepid R.A.F. flyers manage to outwit the sinister Gestapo in present-day France through the danger-fraught assistance of a lovely French girl makes for thrilling action in RKO-Radio's widely-heralded "Joan of Paris," which opens today at the Cadet Theatre. The picture co-stars the sensational new romantic team, Michele Morgan and Paul Henreid.

When a Free French flyer and four members of his R.A.F. squadron are shot down over Nazi-occupied France, their desperate efforts to hide out in Paris bring them in conflict with the dread Gestapo. Concealing his four comrades in the ancient sewers of Paris the Free Frenchman risks his life to contact a British intelligence agent. Aidine him in his perilous mission is a pretty barmaid, Joan, and before long a warm romance develops between the pair in the shadow of menace and terror.

CAPITOL The Japs lose face and plenty of teeth as they tangle with Humphrey Bogart in his newest thriller, "Across the Pacific." Warner Bros. Jap-busting jammer, which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre, Sydney Greenstreet and Mary Astor are co-starring with Bogart in the picture, which has as its setting the Panama Canal Zone.

DOMINION Victor Mature appears as a prize fight champion turned actor in "Footlight Serenade," the Twentieth Century-Fox musical, which will end tonight at the Dominion Theatre. He shares top billing with Betty Grable and John Payne. Seen in support of the stars is a strong cast including Jane Wyman, James Gleason, Phil Silvers and Colma Wright, Jr.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES Hinds the dignified movie actor frequently seen as a lawyer on the screen, has a leading role in Abbott and Costello's latest comedy, "Pardon My Sarong," now showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. LOCAL PHYSICIANS ARE ACCREDITED SPECIALISTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Dr. Ronald Scott-Moncrieff and Dr. Glenn Simpson, of Victoria, have satisfied the standards set up by the Advisory Board for Medical Specialists, representing fifteen branches of medicine, and have been accredited as specialists, according to a listing just published. Dr. Scott-Moncrieff is accredited in the field of otolaryngology and Dr. Simpson is a pediatrician.

Prior to the setting up of standards by the board, there was no means whereby the medical and the lay public could distinguish between the qualified and the merely self-styled specialist. Under the new system, certain minimum requirements in post-graduate study and experience are specified for those who would be designated by the board as specialists. Thus far, only 18,163 medical doctors in Canada and the United States have been so accredited. Some others, who have the necessary qualifications, have not been included, states the board, because they have not yet sought certification.

What Today Means

"LIBRA" If October 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m., from 1:45 to 3:45 p.m. and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a.m., from 5:45 to 7:45 p.m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p.m.

You may be largely responsible for your pleasant or disagreeable experiences on October 15 according to the caution you exercise. Try to adjust yourself to the peculiarities of other people may be one of your most difficult tasks, if you are foolish enough to give them undue concern. Many good resolutions for this date will fall by the wayside unless they are bolstered by unusual will power and determination to see them through. Sooner or later everyone must assume responsibility; therefore, you will not be doing those who lack a sense of responsibility a kindness if you do not remind them never to shirk their duties. Married and engaged couples, and those who have fallen victims of Cupid's machinations may try to quell quains of conscience on this day, but it is not apt to be very effective; therefore, they must make up their minds now to let their consciences be their guides. If you are a woman and October 15 is your birthday, dislike for taking advice may cause you to be unreasonably stubborn once you have made up your mind to pursue a certain course. Love may blind you to the faults of those you love. Only through introspection will you gain the right perspective about things of problematic nature. As a scientific research worker, librarian, office manager, business operator, artist, musician, teacher, author, secretary, or in war work, your earnings may exceed your expectations and the recognition you receive is apt to be most flattering. You should enjoy all the blessings of marriage.

The child born on October 15 is born under a zodiacal sign that indicates that a well-balanced mentality will be one of his outstanding characteristics. In selecting companions, Libra children are drawn to those who are quick-witted and aggressive. They have, as a rule, little patience with slow moving, ponderous people. Quick decisions and recognition of opportunities

Women Form a Guard of Honor For R.C.A.F. Bride

Fellow members of the R.C.A.F. (W.D.) formed a guard of honor after the wedding of A. W. Dorothy G. Mantle, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Mantle, of Saskatoon, and E. A. Dawson, L. Montgomery, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Montgomery, of Hamilton, Ont., which was celebrated recently in St. John's Anglican Church, with Rev. G. Biddle officiating.

It was distinctly a wartime wedding with all the principals in uniform. The bride and her bridesmaid, A. W. Violet Dewberry, of Montreal, are attached to the R.C.A.F. (W.D.), and the bridegroom and his groomsmen, E. A. T. Robertson, of North Bay, Ont., and the usher, E. A. H. Turner, of Hamilton, Ont., are all entire room attendants in the R.C.N.V.R.—The bride was given in marriage by E. A. S. Hayward, of Transcona, Man.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Graham, 2740 Avenue Street, where the young couple were assisted in receiving their guests by the bride's mother, Mrs. B. Mantle, who wore an ensemble of navy blue and white. After a noon meal to be spent in the interior, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Montgomery will return to their respective units.

Members of the guard of honor included: Cpl. F. Herbin, Nova Scotia; Cpl. M. Thomas, New Westminster; L.A.W. E. Barnes, Winnipeg, Man.; A.W.I. Harrison, Vancouver; A.W.I. Cheney, Horden, Alta.; A.W.I. Strout, Newfoundland; A.W.I. Husby, Gibson's Landing; A.W.I. Primeau, Edmonton, Alta.; A.W.I. Norris, New Westminster; A.W.I. Ward, Edmonton, Alta.; A.W.I. Elliot, Crofton, England; A.W.I. Turvey, Chilliwack.

Victoria A.R.P. authorities have surveyed eighteen buildings in the downtown area and have received permission from the owners to use their basements as underground protection shelters. Inspector Arthur Bishop, civilian protection officer, said yesterday.

Authorities here, however, have not designated these shelters for use in emergency because they do not wish to assume the responsibility which, he said, rests with Ottawa. "Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Penitents and National Health, should designate the buildings to be used for this purpose," the inspector said, "but as yet he has not seen fit to do so."

MINERS WANT STRIKE VOTE

Application Made to Government as Result of Princeton Report

PRINCETON, Oct. 14.—(C.P.)—T. A. McCloy, an organizer for the United Mine Workers of America, said here tonight that application has been made to have a Government representative take a strike vote among employees of three coal mines here following release of a conciliation board report which recommended that no contract be made between the companies and the union.

McCloy, who arrived here this morning from Calgary, issued a statement following a meeting with local miners in the evening. He stated the situation "is serious," but that "there will be no violation of any of the acts governing strike procedure."

"The majority report of the conciliation board is a brutal statement of duration against the wishes of 95 per cent of the miners affected regarding union recognition inasmuch that if it were granted the production of coal might be hindered, and might be injurious to the employees affected, at the respective coal mines," McCloy's statement read.

"It is exactly one year to the month of October since initial move was made by the miners of Princeton to have established recognition for the union of their choice," it continued. "They have been very patient, and have complied with every law and order governing the procedure necessary to have their demands recognized."

"District 18 U.M.W.A. will stand behind the men and give all necessary support in their endeavor to establish what is termed a true principle of democracy, the annulled policy of the Dominion Government on the question of union recognition and collective bargaining."

"Although the situation is serious there will be no violation of any of the acts governing strike procedure," McCloy's statement concluded. "Application has been forwarded to the proper authorities to have Government representatives come to this area to take a strike vote."

ARNOLD FLETT FOUND GUILTY

Duncan Farmer Charged In Assize Court With Attempted Armed Robbery

Arnold C. Flett, Duncan, was found guilty in the Fall Assize Court yesterday of having assaulted, with intent to rob, Thomas W. L. Mutch.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce. The jury returned the verdict with a strong recommendation for mercy, after two hours' deliberation. Flett was remanded until the end of the Assizes for sentence.

Evidence was given on Tuesday that Flett had entered the bank on April 29, having made an appointment previously under the name of Robertson. On entering the manager's office he pulled a gun at Mr. Mutch and told him to raise his hands. He was overpowered by the manager and Robert Henry, teller at the bank.

SUFFERED PSYCHOSIS
The defence, presented by H. W. Davey, was that Flett was suffering from an infective psychosis when the crime occurred, this view being corroborated by Drs. James G. McKay, George A. Davidson and Charles H. Vrooman. Dr. McKay, who had examined Flett shortly after the incident, said that in his opinion he was suffering from a gradually increasing state of depression, aggravated by an attack of bronchitis in February.

J. B. Clearhugh, K.C., acted as Crown prosecutor, and Mr. Justice Sidney Smith is presiding. The case, which opened Tuesday morning, was the first to be heard in this Assize Court.

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE

By CAROL BROWN

CHAPTER XLIV

"No," Amy interrupted. And then she said angrily, "You've no right to say that, Marcia."

"You're right, Amy," Marcia said instantly. She was silent for a moment. She took her hand off the wheel and reached out and gave Amy's hand a quick squeeze. "I think you're a good sport," she said

"Why?" Amy demanded. What in the name of common sense had Marcia got into her head now?

"We won't say another word about it ever," Marcia said softly. "And I'm going to stop talking about myself and my lover, too, for awhile."

She couldn't have endured it if she had. Amy thought. But the respite was brief. It lasted only through lunch and the early part of the afternoon while the two girls shopped, or rather while Marcia shopped and Amy looked on. People in the stores got out their best for Marcia. Even though Amy had been accustomed to a fair amount of luxury herself it amazed her to see how nonchalantly Marcia signed cheques.

Only one thing that day did Marcia deny herself. Stopping for just a second to look at a crowded fashion show, the girls saw a bride come out on to a lighted platform. Behind her lilies were banked against a stained glass window. There were lilies in her hands—a long sheaf of them against the ivory satin of a simple sweepingly-cut medieval dress. The bride had red hair and she wore a peaked medieval cap with a wreath of a veil floating from it like a fairy tale princess. And approaching her was a bridegroom in uniform.

Marcia stared with shining eyes.

and then she whispered, "Amy, it's—it's an omen! Why, it's mine! I'll inquire about it now. . . . No, I won't. That would seem like bad luck. But it's going to be just like that. Come let's go to the furniture department."

Blindly Amy stumbled after her. The furniture department was almost empty. It was a relief to walk les and carpets and roped off assemblages of chairs and tables and davenport that were potential living-rooms.

"Oh, look, Amy!" Marcia said. "Isn't it just—just—"

It was a bedroom set of some dark wood, exquisitely carved—a dresser, massive but delicately traced, with a big round mirror, a few of a make-up table, a chest for a man, narrow twin beds with peaked heads of wooden lace, and faded rose tapestry spreads picked out in gold threads.

"Can't you just see that in a studio home?" Marcia said, exalted. "I'm going to buy it now—Her eyes were like altar fires."

Amy turned away.

"I feel faint and funny from being in the store so long," she murmured. "I'll just slip down to the rest room and wait for you there."

Amy used the same excuse to get Marcia to let her out of the car about half a mile from the Eckert house. She said she wanted to walk. And walk she did—so blindly that she did not see Guy Dillingham's car in front of the house nor Guy himself until he stood directly in her path and said in that pleasant deep voice of his, "Here, where are you going, young lady?"

"Nowhere," she said. He fell into step beside her and said with a shy understanding smile, "Then how about my going there with you?"

They walked through the Winter dusk and on into the dark—past ugly brick houses close to the sidewalk, with pleasant lighted bay windows, all the shades up showing dingy, comfortable living-rooms, shirt-sleeved men opening evening papers, children about centre tables getting out books.

Somewhat the darkness outside seemed homelike and intimate and Amy found herself expressing her feelings about that trip downtown. Not in detail; she didn't tell about the wedding dress—a man wouldn't understand that. But he did understand about Marcia's buying the furniture.

Guy listened and thought awhile before he said, "I know, Amy. But if you go on loving Paul—perhaps you'll be hurt again—over and over. I loved one of them, you know. And now—" he spoke carefully, choosing his words. "Now I know that there are two kinds of love, one that tears and burns and burns so wildly it burns itself out. And another that glows with a steady, warmish, that lasts through the years. It's a sort of love that might bring a man peace and deep happiness. A woman, too. It's the best love."

"Oh," someone gasped, Marcia had stopped beside them. They realized then that they were in front of the Eckert's again.

"I beg your pardon," Marcia said awkwardly. And before either of them could reply she had run to her car parked in front of Guy's. The door slammed and the car was moving off.

Vancouver Sun States That Pat Egan May Not Go To Red Wings

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP)—The Vancouver Sun said today that Pat Egan, National Hockey League star, since star who was said to Detroit Red Wings last week with Harry Watson for $250,000, has been refused permission by Selective Service officials to quit his job in a Vancouver shipyard to go east.

Local Selective Service officials would not admit Egan had made application to move east, but W. McKinstry, Selective Service Board official, said "we are not issuing permits to anyone to move from this to another province for reasons such as these."

Tom Thompson, personnel officer of North Van Ship Repairs, where Egan is employed, said the hockey player had given his notice yesterday, but he did not know whether he had made application to the Selective Service Board. Egan could not be reached.

Risko Joins the Army

Johnny Risko, the prize ring's "rubber man" of more than a decade ago, is all set for a new kind of fight. He's pictured above (right) at the Camp Perry, O., reception centre, where he has donned the khaki of Uncle Sam's army. With him is Sergeant A. J. Knudsen, sports editor of the camp newspaper. Risko's home is in Sheldale Lake, Ont.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time. A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within. To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headache by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralizing acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headache should disappear.

WENT THE LIMIT

His mother-in-law had written to say that she was on the way to live with them for the duration of the war. As she approached the house she saw a large crowd. Pushing her way to the front, she gasped when she saw what damage a midnight fire had done—at the heap of bricks and charred furniture.

"Dear me," she said, her face livid. "I don't think he'd go as far as that!"

Specialties Alone Keep Up Advance On New York Mart

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP).—Most stock market leaders suffered a minor setback today after the last week's fast forward run, but a group of specialties took the ball near the close and pushed into substantially higher territory.

A few of the pivots slipped off a point or so after a steady start and American Telephone dropped 2. While these moves inspired some general selling the market throughout had resilient spots, notably the steel, aircraft and oil. Transactions were well under the previous day's.

The Associated Press sixty-stock composite had a closing decline of 2.3 points at 39.9. Yesterday's final average was the highest since November 6, 1941. Dealings totaled 690,010 shares against 857,200 on Tuesday.

Rails were a bit soft both before and after it was disclosed New York Central directors' meeting produced no dividend, thus disappointing many—in the financial sector who had counted on a break in Central's twelve-year dividend drought. The stock closed down 3-4 on an active turnover.

Telephone's final loss was 1-5-8 and J. C. Penney's went down about a point. Narrower declines were registered by General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse and Northern Pacific.

U.S. Steel closed unchanged and Bethlehem was off 1-8. United Aircraft edged up 1-2. Standard Oil of New Jersey was a shade higher.
